The Spindle

"Honest, Faithful, and Courageous, ... Loyal . . . . ." These adjectives are truly descriptive of the staff of "The Spindle". If it were not for the toils of the staff, this book would not be possible.

Honest . . . There has been much work done only by being honest with one's self, and other staff members. Without this quality they could not have accomplished what they have.

Faithful . . . They have given their time and efforts to make this book a success, so that you may remember the class of '55, Your Class.

Courageous . . . They were not afraid to come forth with new ideas. Remember in future years that this staff was original.

Loyal . . . In the darker hours, many times one feels as if he can't go on. They were loyal, and now as they leave here, they are proud that they had that sense of loyalty.

Above and beyond these traits there is something else. The staff owes its success to the constant efforts of Miss Anna Ryan, to whom they extend their most humble thanks.

They thank also Miss Lyons and the secretaries of the "Review" and "Spindle".

The staff thanks again all who helped in any way to make this year book of '55 a success.

THIS IS YOUR YEAR BOOK.

Class Ode – 1955

TUNE—Onward Christian Soldiers

As the veil before us lifts
We can see the path
To the broad'ning future
And our goal ahead.
Though unsure of victory,
We'll not be denied.
Onward ever onward
Toward that glorious dawn . . .

We are now departing from our school and friends
Honest, faithful, loyal to the cause at hand.

Now that we are entering
In our chosen fields
May we ever cherish
Friendships so endeared.
Truth must be our watchword,
Righteousness toward all,
Glory to our maker,
The Father of us all . . .

We are now departing from our school and friends
Honest, faithful, loyal to the cause at hand.

SHEILA E. MCDOWELL

RAYMOND A. SULLIVAN
Headmaster

For twenty-six years, ever since Mrs. Edward O. McCarthy, formerly Janet McEvoy, incorporated the adjectives "Honest, Faithful and Courageous, Loyal," into the school song, succeeding classes have sung the words at informal and formal occasions here at Lowell High School. The words form the slogan for the class of '55 and provide the theme for this year's edition of "The Spindle." Always applicable to the ideals of conduct for an individual, a class, a school or a democracy, qualities of honesty, faith, courage, and loyalty exemplify the highly desirable ambitions we have tried to instill into the graduates.

As each student wove the pattern of a career at Lowell High School, we have endeavored, also, to provide him with the training which would best help him to meet the demands of his particular life. There have been extensive changes in the curriculum since the first public high school was organized in Lowell in 1853. Expanding enrollment has demanded increased and varied courses. Whether the seniors have followed the academic, the commercial, the general, the practical or the scientific course of study, we hope that they will remember to be "Honest, Faithful, and Courageous, Loyal."

IN MEMORIAM

PAULA MCHALE

1937 - 1955

Like a candle snuffed in its flaming glory
It's the tragic—the eternal story
we all must learn—of death;
And I wept with grief—till in a dream
I saw that flame send its joyful beam
From its place among the stars.

"Music, Music, Music," is what is played by our Lowell High School Band. Organized on January 1, 1924, the group has improved tremendously in musical talent as well as in number of musicians. Girls and boys clad in Red and Gray under the direction of Mr. William J. Notini, who this year became a faculty member of "Lowell State Teachers' College," have performed spectacularly at assemblies, pep rallies, football games and civic affairs. An added attraction for the band this year was a week-end trip to White Plains and New York City with the football team.

These girls spend their spare hours in the book room helping Mr. Reardon keep inventory of all books in his department.

In addition to operating, the girls check on dismissal slips, keep an accurate record of all out-going calls and are always prompt and courteous.

Once again it was spring, and the old hue and cry of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" resounded from Yankee Stadium to Mudville. Not to be outdone, L.H.S. prepared for a banner year on the diamond. The nucleus for this year's team, composed of veterans from the '54 star-studded combination, made a fine showing. The team, devoted to Coach Stanley Stoklosa, aimed for his 115th win. Jim Palavras is the captain of the 1955 team.

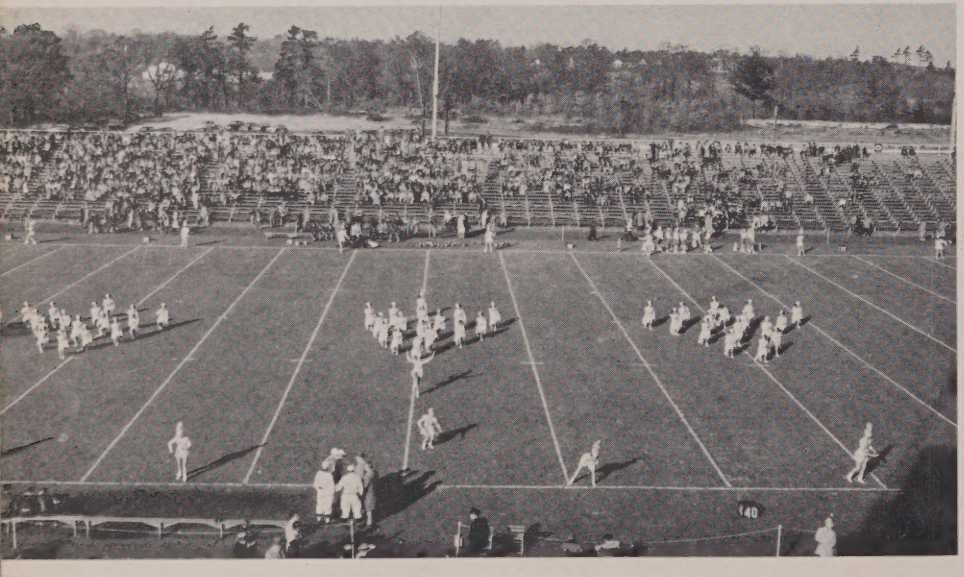
Field Performances



Each year the Baton Twirlers, under the direction of Wilfrid T. Boulger, decorate the L.H.S. stadium in their glittering gold and white uniforms. They put on a spectacular display of well executed drills and precision twirling which always thrills the crowds. Although they are not a part of the Physical Education Department, they participate in the Field Day exercises each year.

The annual Memorial Day Parade finds the girls strutting down the street in fine fashion. The twirlers, besides all their other duties, are willing to lend a helping hand to all charitable and civic functions. Not only are they well known in Lowell and surrounding towns, but they have made appearances in practically all the major cities in the state and also have appeared in New York and Connecticut. During the past year, many of the more proficient members of the group have been touring the different twirling circuits throughout the state and have been the winners of numerous awards.

Anticipated by all the girls are their own inter-class contests, which are held in the Spring. It is undoubtedly the busiest unit in the school, as twirling is a twelve month activity.

The Leaders

Room 100

Front: Elizabeth Owen, Glenda Sherburne. Rear: Frances Donahue, Charlotte Richter.

Room 100 is probably the most popular room in Lowell High School. When a student enters school, at the beginning of the year, he sees Mr. Emmett Harris and his loyal assistants, about the purchase of locker keys. During the year in this room lost articles may be reclaimed, and tickets bought for various activities.

The staff gives friendly attention to all who seek their services.

Each girl on the staff works in Mr. Edward Sullivan's Commercial Office during separate periods in the day to act as his clerk and secretary. These girls do a fine job of regulating and keeping records of the books and supplies for distribution to the entire high school.

Under the faithful leadership of Miss Hildegarde St. Onge, Les Pompons Rouges club has become one of the most popular clubs in school. It was formed in the fall of 1951 for the benefit of students interested in French. The elected officers for the year 1955 are Philip Nyman, President; Helen Wilcox, Vice-President; Mary Quinn, Secretary; Robert Lapadula, Treasurer. Each year the club gives a pin to the highest ranking student in French II. This year for the first time some of the girls in the club made little Pompons for the members to wear on the days that the club meets.

There are several other students working in the lunchroom but also we cannot forget the faithful dieticians who are loyal to their task of preparing delicious dinners and lunches for over two thousand students each day.

Home Room Representatives

Each year, representatives are appointed from every senior home room to assist in the many class activities. Their first duty is to get a list of each pupil in their home room and collect the Senior class dues. When time for the Senior Prom and other activities rolls around, their job is the selling of tickets. Their final duty is to supervise the distribution of caps and gowns to the pupils in the rooms they represent.

Greenhalge Debating Society

Founded in 1856 in honor of Frederic L. Greenhalge, the Greenhalge Debating Society is an active extra-curricular club whose purpose is to develop the art of debate in the students of Lowell High School.

Recently under the very capable direction of Mr. Francis D. Reardon, the society has competed in Invitational Tournaments at Boston University, Emerson College and Merrimack College. For these tournaments the team is trained in original oratory, declamation, extemporaneous speaking and debating.

The officers this year include President, Dennis Brennan '55; First Vice President, Herbert Kazar '56; Second Vice President, Marilyn Joyce '55; Secretary, Joseph McCarthy '56; Sergeant-at-arms, Philip Nyman '55.

Floormasters' Secretaries

Applications are distributed to all shorthand and typing teachers to be given to any Junior girl who is enrolled in the Secretarial Course, and is interested in becoming a floormasters' secretary. These applications are then returned to Miss Mary Lyons to select the girls for these positions during their Senior year. They spend their spare periods in the offices of the floormasters, gaining practical experience which aids them to prepare for future, similar work.

Front: Emmanuel Psaledakis, Edward Tivnan, Robert Lapadula, Harvey Byers, Kenneth Economou.
Rear: Edward Earle, John Aslanian, John Kenney, Charles Manousos, John Brigham, Charles Zaroulis.

Elevator Operators

A scrape on glass is heard—then, from the basement, comes the elevator. The elevator operator opens the door and in steps a teacher or a student recuperating from an illness. This scene takes place many times during a school day at Lowell High. The eleven boy officers, who are appointed by Captain James Murray, carry out their duties efficiently and courteously. They are chosen on the basis of their merit and efficiency.

Girl Officers

Honest, faithful, courageous and loyal are the best adjectives to describe the Lowell High School Girl Officers. To build leadership and the moral character among the girls is the goal of Miss Bawita Lawler and her corps.

When the girls are juniors they work hard and long for perfection in the Indian clubs, marching, commands and dancing. Early in June the "tryouts" are held. Three out-of-town judges score the girls individually on achievements in each field. The girls who are selected are truly leaders of the senior class, for they teach the underclassmen in their gym classes and try to help them to develop into Girl Officers.

This year's Girl Officer's Ball was held on January 21, 1955 and, true to fashion, it appeared to be the loveliest, by far, ever held.

Ushering, and checking at numerous school and civic affairs complete a well rounded program of civic responsibility for these seventy-two senior girls.

Drivers' Education

Drivers' Education, a relatively new institution at Lowell High School, has proved itself both beneficial and practical to students applying for licenses. The students of this course, under the capable direction of Miss Rose O'Neil, Mr. Ray Riddick and Mr. Nicholas Apostolakas, not only learn to operate and drive a car but, more important, develop the right attitude which makes for the three C's, careful, cautious, and courteous drivers. Now Drivers' Ed not only offers a course in theory, but also behind-the-wheel training in the school's own cars. The complete course, a half a year in duration, counts 1½ points towards graduation. The success of Drivers' Education in the high school points toward a change in teen-age driving habits—for the better.

Cooperative Retailing

Seniors interested in Cooperative Retailing must not only be trained in all phases of Merchandising and Retailing, but must adapt themselves to assignment in the local business establishments.

Moreover, Seniors who complete this course, will in future years profit from this opportunity to train under Miss Claire A. Quigley and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in the course of Cooperative Retailing.

For the seventh year the European Culture Club continued its meetings on the first Monday of each month with faithfulness in its project to extend knowledge of the European countries to students of this school. Films of these countries were shown and interesting talks given by members of the faculty and friends of the high school who have visited these countries and are capable of extending the interest and knowledge of the club members.

The annual Christmas party was a great success, as was the trip to Boston. The club members who took the trip to Boston enjoyed seeing "The Solid Gold Cadillac", a professional play.

Room 115 is the home of the organization, with Miss Berthe Desmarais as its advisor and founder. The officers, all members of the Class of 1955, include Program Chairmen, Mary Frawley and Carol A. Sullivan; Treasurer, Jean St. Pierre; Secretary, Mary Quinn; Vice-President, Cherrie C. Conant; and President, Mary C. Heskett.

Newswriting

A small, but quite capable, elective class here is Newswriting. Although it is small in number, it is large in its attempts.

During the school year the members have entered national contests, and have written the script for the "Journal of the Air". In addition to this, they have carried on where their predecessors left off in continuing the column, "Stadium Sidelines", which appeared in the football programs.

They have worked with a true sense of Loyalty through the year. They have also edited the handbooks made available to incoming Freshmen and Sophomores. All this was done under the capable supervision of Miss Anna Ryan, to whom the class extends its thanks.

A Capella Choir

The A-Cappella Choir, a newly formed group, is under the direction of Miss Gertrude J. O'Brien. It is composed entirely of seniors and its purpose is to develop an ear for music. The members of the choir meet every Thursday at the close of school to sing classical and semi-classical selections without any accompaniment. They have performed on the Lowell High School Journal of the Air and at school assemblies.

Special Chorus

The seventy-five voices of Special Chorus combine in beautiful harmony. Professional critics rate the group as one of the top vocal performers in Massachusetts. Mrs. Fred Drescher expertly aids the chorus, during their Wednesday after-school meetings, to perfect arrangements of such pieces as "Lo, A Voice to Heaven Sounding", by Tchaikowsky; "Hallelujah", by Handel; "Were You There", by Burleigh; "Ride the Chariot", by Smith; "By the Bend of the River", by Edwards; and "Oklahoma", by Rogers.

Seated: Bradley Moynahan, Peter Brennan, Emil Myskowski, Edward Splaine, Eddie Bellegarde. Standing: Ann Vaughan, Mary Vaughan, Shirley Francoeur, Connie Hubert, Deborah Killam, Ellen McCarty and Sheila McDowell.

"From Sawdust to Spangles"

An integral part of the year's activities at Lowell High School is the annual variety show. This year, our show "From Sawdust to Spangles" took the form of a gala, glittering circus, complete with clowns and wild animals. Hundreds of talented youngsters from all classes participated, all sharing the enthusiastic warmth and friendliness associated with show business. A great deal of the success of the show must be attributed to Mrs. Fred Drescher, director, assisted by those students on the various committees, and choreographers.

The Orchestra

Our orchestra was started in 1916 by Mr. Fred O. Blunt, and has since became an outlet for fine musical talent. When Miss Gertrude O'Brien took over in 1930 the orchestra was one of the school's most enjoyed activities. It has continued to please its audiences at assemblies and local functions, under the direction of Mr. W. Z. Notini, who has directed the orchestra for the past two years. Faithful attendance at rehearsals has resulted in a fine musical organization.

Cadet Officers

Since 1880, the faithful Cadet Officers have honored their school by their outstanding character and performance. Under the capable and most qualified hands of Captain James F. Murray, the regiment has made the people of Lowell marvel throughout the years at its precision and smartness.

The officers are selected by written examination; those receiving the highest marks become captains. The colonel, lieutenant-colonels and majors are selected by competitive drill.

Field day and Memorial day these loyal officers have marched through the streets, proud of the organization they represent.

Personnel

Established thirty-one years ago in 1924, the Personnel Department enables its members to prepare themselves for their venture into the business world with a sense of integrity and business courtesy.

Room 330 is the home of this department. Here one can always find the girls working faithfully mimeographing tests, office forms, daily absentee lists and notices, schedules, and typing letters.

This year twenty Seniors, chosen for their outstanding work in their Junior year are serving on the staff under the capable direction of Miss Mary V. Lyons.

The Review

Sixty-eight years of honesty, loyalty and faithfulness on the part of the members of the "Review" staff have insured the continuance of the school paper.

"The Review" was first a small newspaper, then a magazine, and is now a large paper. This is the year when our advertising manager was so efficient that we were able to afford an eight page "Review", for the first time in fourteen years.

Each year, with over one hundred applications to select from, Miss Anna Ryan and other members of the English Department select the staff on basis of scholarship and journalistic aptitude.

Thanks to the leadership of David Gardner, Editor-in-Chief, to the faithful efforts of the editors, and to the diligence of the secretaries, Theresa Grygiel and Elizabeth Hayes, "The Review" has had a successful year.

Girl of the Month

To represent the gay winter season, popular Patricia Murray was chosen February's "Girl of the Month" and will receive a lovely orchid from Kenney the Florist.

Pat lives at 142 First Street with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Murray and entered Lowell High from the Varnum Jr. High. Among her extra-curricular activities she is a member of St. Michael's CYO and Science Club, a switch board operator, baton twirler, and a "Spindle" representative. In her spare time she enjoys ice and roller skating, twirling and dancing. Pat is enrolled in the College Commercial course and plans to attend Framingham State Teachers College next fall.

The Science Club

Each year the Science Club is under the Supervision of Mr. James L. Conway. Its purpose is to stimulate interest in the desire for scientific study and research. The club has meetings every other Friday at which experiments are conducted, demonstrations performed and lectures given by the students or department heads. There are approximately seventy members this year. A highly successful Science Fair was held in May at which the members displayed their various projects. Dues are collected from each member in order to present the school with a gift from the club at the end of the year.

The experience acquired in this club enables its members to begin a life-long profitable hobby.

"Penny"

This year's dramatic production "Penny", under the direction of Miss Mary H. Casey, was the story of a teen-age girl who put her town in an uproar. Held on April 1, the play was, as usual, a success. The cast was applauded for their loyalty and faithfulness to hard work at rehearsals after school hours and during the February vacation.

At meetings, members see pictures of Spain and Mexico, and hear talks on Spanish-speaking countries. Two people are chosen at each meeting to plan entertainment. Spanish is spoken to a great extent at meetings. An honest and sincere interest is taken by the members in their club.

Speakers Bureau

Miss Mary Casey organizes annually a group of students known as the Speaker's Bureau. These students put on a special radio program in the interest of the Lowell Tuberculosis Council in order to urge the people of Lowell to purchase Christmas Seals and to take X-rays annually.

The members are also given the opportunity to speak before such groups as the Middlesex Women's Club and before various assemblies given in honor of men and women who have added so much to our human progress. Fine orations are presented by individuals of this group.

By dedicating themselves to such worthy causes, the members of the Speakers' Bureau have earned an honored place among the many fine organizations of our school.

Student Library Staff

These boys volunteer to help Miss Hogan during their spare hours.
